

Following in the street beyond the Stables. You come in the Corner and to the garden - now, then to the side road to the corner, the Herbarium.
The gardens lie at the left, behind the houses - I enclose also the guide, which may be all you to look over, & the maps help to understand some of my descriptions - You see where one map joins the other -

I have also put in the hand some Engravings &c. for the children - I found Lady told me she made very nicely some for "Sageard" Am. Fair, of Pullin town at a certain time in Simon's garden -

Also a little parcel of by charity from for me to Minnie Batchelder in Cambridge - I wish I had more present, but shopping is so expensive & expensive & difficult - Ever faithfully L. B.

New - Nov - 7th 60.

Dear Sir,
I have just received your letter of the 5th inst. - I am very pleased to hear you will remain at the Cathedral better in some I have sent a small line, which you will find on the back where Mr. Church's house is - the bridge's palace on the left hand side inwards from the garden view - On the other's I have put some explanations on the back of some the "wells" or drains, supply the water to the Canals -

The garden ones, of New, I saw it sent at the last when I had nothing - They were the same since above the lake, & the interior of it now send the Museum Road, where I used to go & sit outside a good deal - You see the incline over the front, & the flower-bed, in order, opposite the door - On the right is the fountain -

The large Temperate House for most compare rather with the man sitting the walk in front of it, than with the lady in the rear foreground.
The great gate is where everybody enters - The Herbarium is the left in that road - On the Herbarium front the gate is in the middle, by the corner ledge - The Herbarium is within the iron fence & gate - It is understood since the old residence of the King House -

If you examine the one corner looking closely, you will see the walk of the Churchyard round the church under the trees on the right - The church is on the green opposite Cambridge House - The projecting work is built in front of the building on the right side & drive a "Carriage" under - The house believes in the other side of that is projecting steps front, the whole front is a door! But house sits back, & B. you're crossing - some lies over the back of the shop, which is sliced in, apparently to use all available room.

The open stall near you is the butcher's, the shop above the new 3-man's, where I got the photos, & who sells ink & needles, & papers & Stationery - Next is a little confectionery -
